THE UNDISCOVERED INDIAN MUSIC

A diaspora music discovery initiative for Haryanvi music.

An exploration of how an under-explored Indian regional music genre could build cultural relevance in global diaspora markets.

INDIAN MUSIC IS ALREADY GLOBAL.

THE OPPORTUNITY IS BECOMING MORE SPECIFIC.

GLOBAL GROWTH → DIASPORA HUBS → MARKET NUANCE → REGIONAL POTENTIAL → CULTURAL ECOSYSTEM → INDUSTRY INVESTMENT

01

GLOBAL GROWTH

>2,000% streaming growth

~50% of royalties now earned outside India

International demand exists

02

DIASPORA HUBS

US / UK / CA top discovery markets

Diaspora cities act as major discovery hubs

Diaspora markets matter

03

MARKETS DIFFER

Bollywood ≠ every market

Canada skews toward Punjabi strength

Strategy must be market-specific 04

REGIONAL SOUNDS TRAVEL

Hindi · Punjabi Tamil · Telugu

Multiple regional sounds show cross-border traction

Language isn't the barrier

05

CULTURAL ECOSYSTEMS

Punjabi shows ecosystem

A live/media ecosystem has grown around the genre

Exporting a genre needs more than music

06

INDUSTRY INVESTMENT

91 North Records

Label investment signals long-term confidence

Diaspora is becoming strategic infrastructure

SO WHAT?

Regional music can travel. But songs don't build global fandom on their own. Cultural ecosystems do.

DECODING THE PUNJABI SUCCESS STORY

How a regional sound became a global cultural ecosystem.

Diaspora markets like Canada, UK, Australia, US have been central to Punjabi music's global rise.

“ Regional identity can coexist with global accessibility. ”

Artists like Karan Aujla, AP Dhillon, Shubh, etc. emerging from diaspora markets have taken Punjabi music back to the world.

INDUSTRY SIGNAL
91 NORTH RECORDS

Infrastructure is following demonstrated cross-border demand.

SO WHAT?

Punjabi didn't travel through music alone.
It travelled through an ecosystem.

THE HARYANVI MUSIC ECOSYSTEM

The ingredients are already there, but they exist as standalone signals—not yet as a connected global ecosystem.

THE OPPORTUNITY ISN'T TO REINVENT HARYANVI.

IT'S TO REVEAL MORE OF IT.

PUNJABI × HARYANVI

The comparison points to an ecosystem gap—not a product gap.

DIAGNOSIS

THE PRODUCT ISN'T THE PROBLEM.

The international ecosystem is.

WHERE MARKETING CAN PLAY

POSITIONING

TRANSLATION

AWARENESS

CREATORS

COLLABORATION

Haryanvi may not need to become globally familiar before it can become globally relevant.

THE DISCOVERY PROBLEM

How do you make an unfamiliar genre feel familiar?

The entry point matters as much as the music itself.

ROUTE A

LANGUAGE-FIRST

Haryanvi

Music

Emotion

Requires familiarity with the genre before interest in the song.

ROUTE B

CHOSEN ROUTE

“Here is a beautiful heartbreak song that happens to be Haryanvi.”

EMOTION-FIRST

Emotion

Music

Haryanvi

Culture

Creates a universal entry point before revealing the regional identity.

WHAT ARE WE WORKING WITH?

The assets already exist. The challenge is designing the entry point.

PRODUCT
Regional sound + contemporary production

TALENT
Multiple artists + styles

DIGITAL
Strong social + video potential

EMOTION

THE STRATEGIC SHIFT

FROM

“Discover Haryanvi music.”

TO

“Discover something you already feel.”

THE DIASPORA

THE CULTURE HAS ALREADY TRAVELLED.

Haryanvi communities have established cultural touchpoints across key diaspora markets.

CANADA

COMMUNITY + CULTURE

Ragini · Dhamal · Teej · Haryana Day

UK

EMERGING CREATIVE SPACE

UK Haryanvi · Diaspora identity · Creative expression

USA

COMMUNITY + PRESERVATION

Language · Youth · Cultural programmes

AUSTRALIA

CULTURE + NEXT GENERATION

Cultural preservation · Future generations

THE OPPORTUNITY

The diaspora isn't an empty market. It's already a network of people, communities and cultural touchpoints.

THE AUDIENCE

FOUR DOORS

The same culture can mean something completely different to different listeners.

01 THE INSIDER

FIRST-GENERATION HARYANVI

"This is home."

MOTIVATION

NOSTALGIA + BELONGING

Early adopters · Community amplifiers · Event audiences ·
Gatekeepers

02 THE RECONNECTOR

SECOND-GENERATION HARYANVI

"I know I'm Haryanvi.
I just don't always live it."

MOTIVATION

IDENTITY + RECONNECTION

Tension: identity ≠ consumption

03 THE EXPLORER

SECOND-GENERATION INDIAN

"I know Indian culture.
I want another side of it."

MOTIVATION

DISCOVERY + ENTERTAINMENT

Punjabi · Gujarati · Tamil · Telugu ·
Bengali...

04 THE OUTSIDER

GLOBAL LISTENER

"I don't know what this is.
But I like how it feels."

MOTIVATION

SOUND + VIBE + CURIOSITY

Sound · Vibe · Emotion · Curiosity

THE STRATEGIC AUDIENCE

Start with proximity. Scale through curiosity.

The opportunity lies between cultural familiarity and cultural discovery.

PRIMARY

WHY THIS AUDIENCE?

Enough proximity to care.

Enough distance to discover.

CULTURAL PROXIMITY

DISCOVERY TENSION

ADOPTION → OWNERSHIP

SECONDARY

Global Culture Explorers

Sound → Emotion → Curiosity → Culture

THE LONGER-TERM EXPANSION

THE HYPOTHESIS

The culture is familiar.
The music isn't always relevant.

THE GAP

*"I know where this comes from.
I don't always see where it belongs in my life."*

WHAT THEY DISCOVER

POP

HIGH ENERGY

ROMANCE

INDIE

STRATEGIC HYPOTHESIS

Cultural familiarity does not automatically translate into music relevance.

THE STRATEGIC JOB

Don't reinvent Haryanvi. Make it personally relevant.

THE JOURNEY

From discovery to belonging.

The goal isn't simply to get someone to hear Haryanvi music. It's to give them reasons to keep coming back to it.

01 / DISCOVER

"What's this?"

The first encounter.

EMOTION · SOUND · CULTURE · STORY · CREATOR

02 / PARTICIPATE

Participate

"I want to be part of this."

No longer a passive listener.

LISTEN → SHARE → CREATE → ATTEND → INTERACT

03 / IDENTIFY

Identify

"This feels like me."

Part of identity, taste and community.

TASTE → IDENTITY → COMMUNITY → FANDOM

CURIOSITY → ENGAGEMENT → OWNERSHIP

THE STRATEGIC SHIFT

From "Haryanvi music" as a genre to "Haryanvi" as a cultural experience.

The strategy doesn't ask audiences to adopt a genre. It gives them a journey into a culture.

THE TOUCHPOINT SYSTEM

The journey needs more than music.

Each touchpoint moves the audience closer to participation, identity and fandom — and fandom feeds back into discovery.

01 — DISCOVERY

Catch attention

MUSIC VIDEO

Make Haryanvi visually discoverable.

CREATOR

Turn someone else’s audience into an entry point.

SHORT-FORM

Make one moment impossible to ignore.

CULTURAL CONTEXT

Give unfamiliar audiences a frame they already understand.

02 — PARTICIPATION

Invite involvement

PLAYLISTS

Turn discovery into repeat listening.

COLLABORATION

Turn cultural boundaries into bridges.

CREATOR PARTICIPATION

Turn listeners into contributors- UGC / dance / remix

03 — IDENTITY

Build belonging

DIASPORA COMMUNITY

Turn listeners into communities.

CULTURAL EXPERIENCES

Haryana Day · Teej · Holi · desi events

LIFESTYLE

Fashion · dance · food · stories · weddings

04 — FANDOM

Sustain the culture

FANDOM

ARTIST → COMMUNITY → CULTURE

Listen → Participate → Return → Share

THE STRATEGIC PRINCIPLE

Don’t maximise touchpoints. Make each touchpoint do a different job.

Music starts the journey.
Culture sustains it.
